As a life long resident of Wy. & a sportsman I know that we (people in the oil & gas industry) can do this with a minimal impact on the environment & wild life. For instance in Alaska the porcipive caribou herd has in increased in numbers on the north slope inspite of drilling. I believe this due to good companies being good stewards of the land.

Encana is one of these companies that cares about the environment. Most of their employees are from Wy & are sportsman so they have a vested interest for jobs & their way of life.
